PRESENTATION

Crescent House

At the crest of the mountain community that is Marcella at Jordanelle Ridge, sits Crescent House. Perched high above Jordanelle Reservoir, where land and sky seem to meet, Crescent House was designed to be one with its surroundings, naturally cascading down the terrain and embracing unobstructed 360-degree views of Deer Valley Ski Resort, Jordanelle Reservoir, Mount Timpanogos, Heber Valley and the Uintas, and of course the new Skyline golf course. The distinctive crescent shape of this home allows for effortless living, orienting every major space toward an extraordinary backdrop of natural beauty. The graceful curve of the home invites an organic warmth and harmony to everyday life, bringing a calming peace and sculptural quality to the home in a way sharp angles never can.

This 9,500 square foot mountain retreat is two levels with five bedrooms, including an over 1,300 square foot master suite, connected to the core of the home via glass breezeway with cantilevered, floating stairs. The home has a large open floor plan with great room, dining room and a curvaceous bar with a glass-enclosed, temperature-controlled wine wall. Living continues on the lower level with four guest bedrooms and baths, family room, game room, theater, fitness room, and wellness spa and steam room. Expansive covered decks on both levels, complete with generous seating areas and fire features, create a truly seamless indoor-outdoor living experience in every season. The decks add an additional 4,500 square feet of living space, offering perhaps the finest vantage points from which to experience the home's remarkable setting. Floor-to-ceiling glass and a palette of natural materials are woven throughout both the exterior and interior, further grounding the home in the surrounding landscape. Inside, gently curved architectural details and furnishings echo the home's signature form, reinforcing an atmosphere of understated sophistication and tranquility. Crescent House is at once warm and inviting, sculptural and refined, organic and dynamic. Above all, it is peaceful, deeply livable, and intimately connected to the extraordinary landscape that surrounds it. That is what makes Crescent House so special.

Who We Are

Jory Walker Design Architects is a full-service architecture and interior design firm based in Holladay, Utah. We specialize in luxury residential living that is grounded in the juncture where function meets art, practicality meets dreams, needs meet desires. It is that delicate balance that transforms a house into a true home. Backed by years of residential expertise and the commercial architectural experience of our sister firm, Beecher Walker Architects, we offer clients the strength of both disciplines. Combined with our founder's beginnings as a classically trained artist, this unique perspective informs every project we undertake.

Our Process

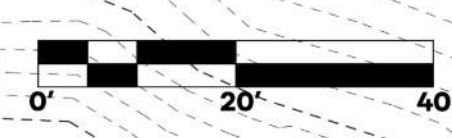

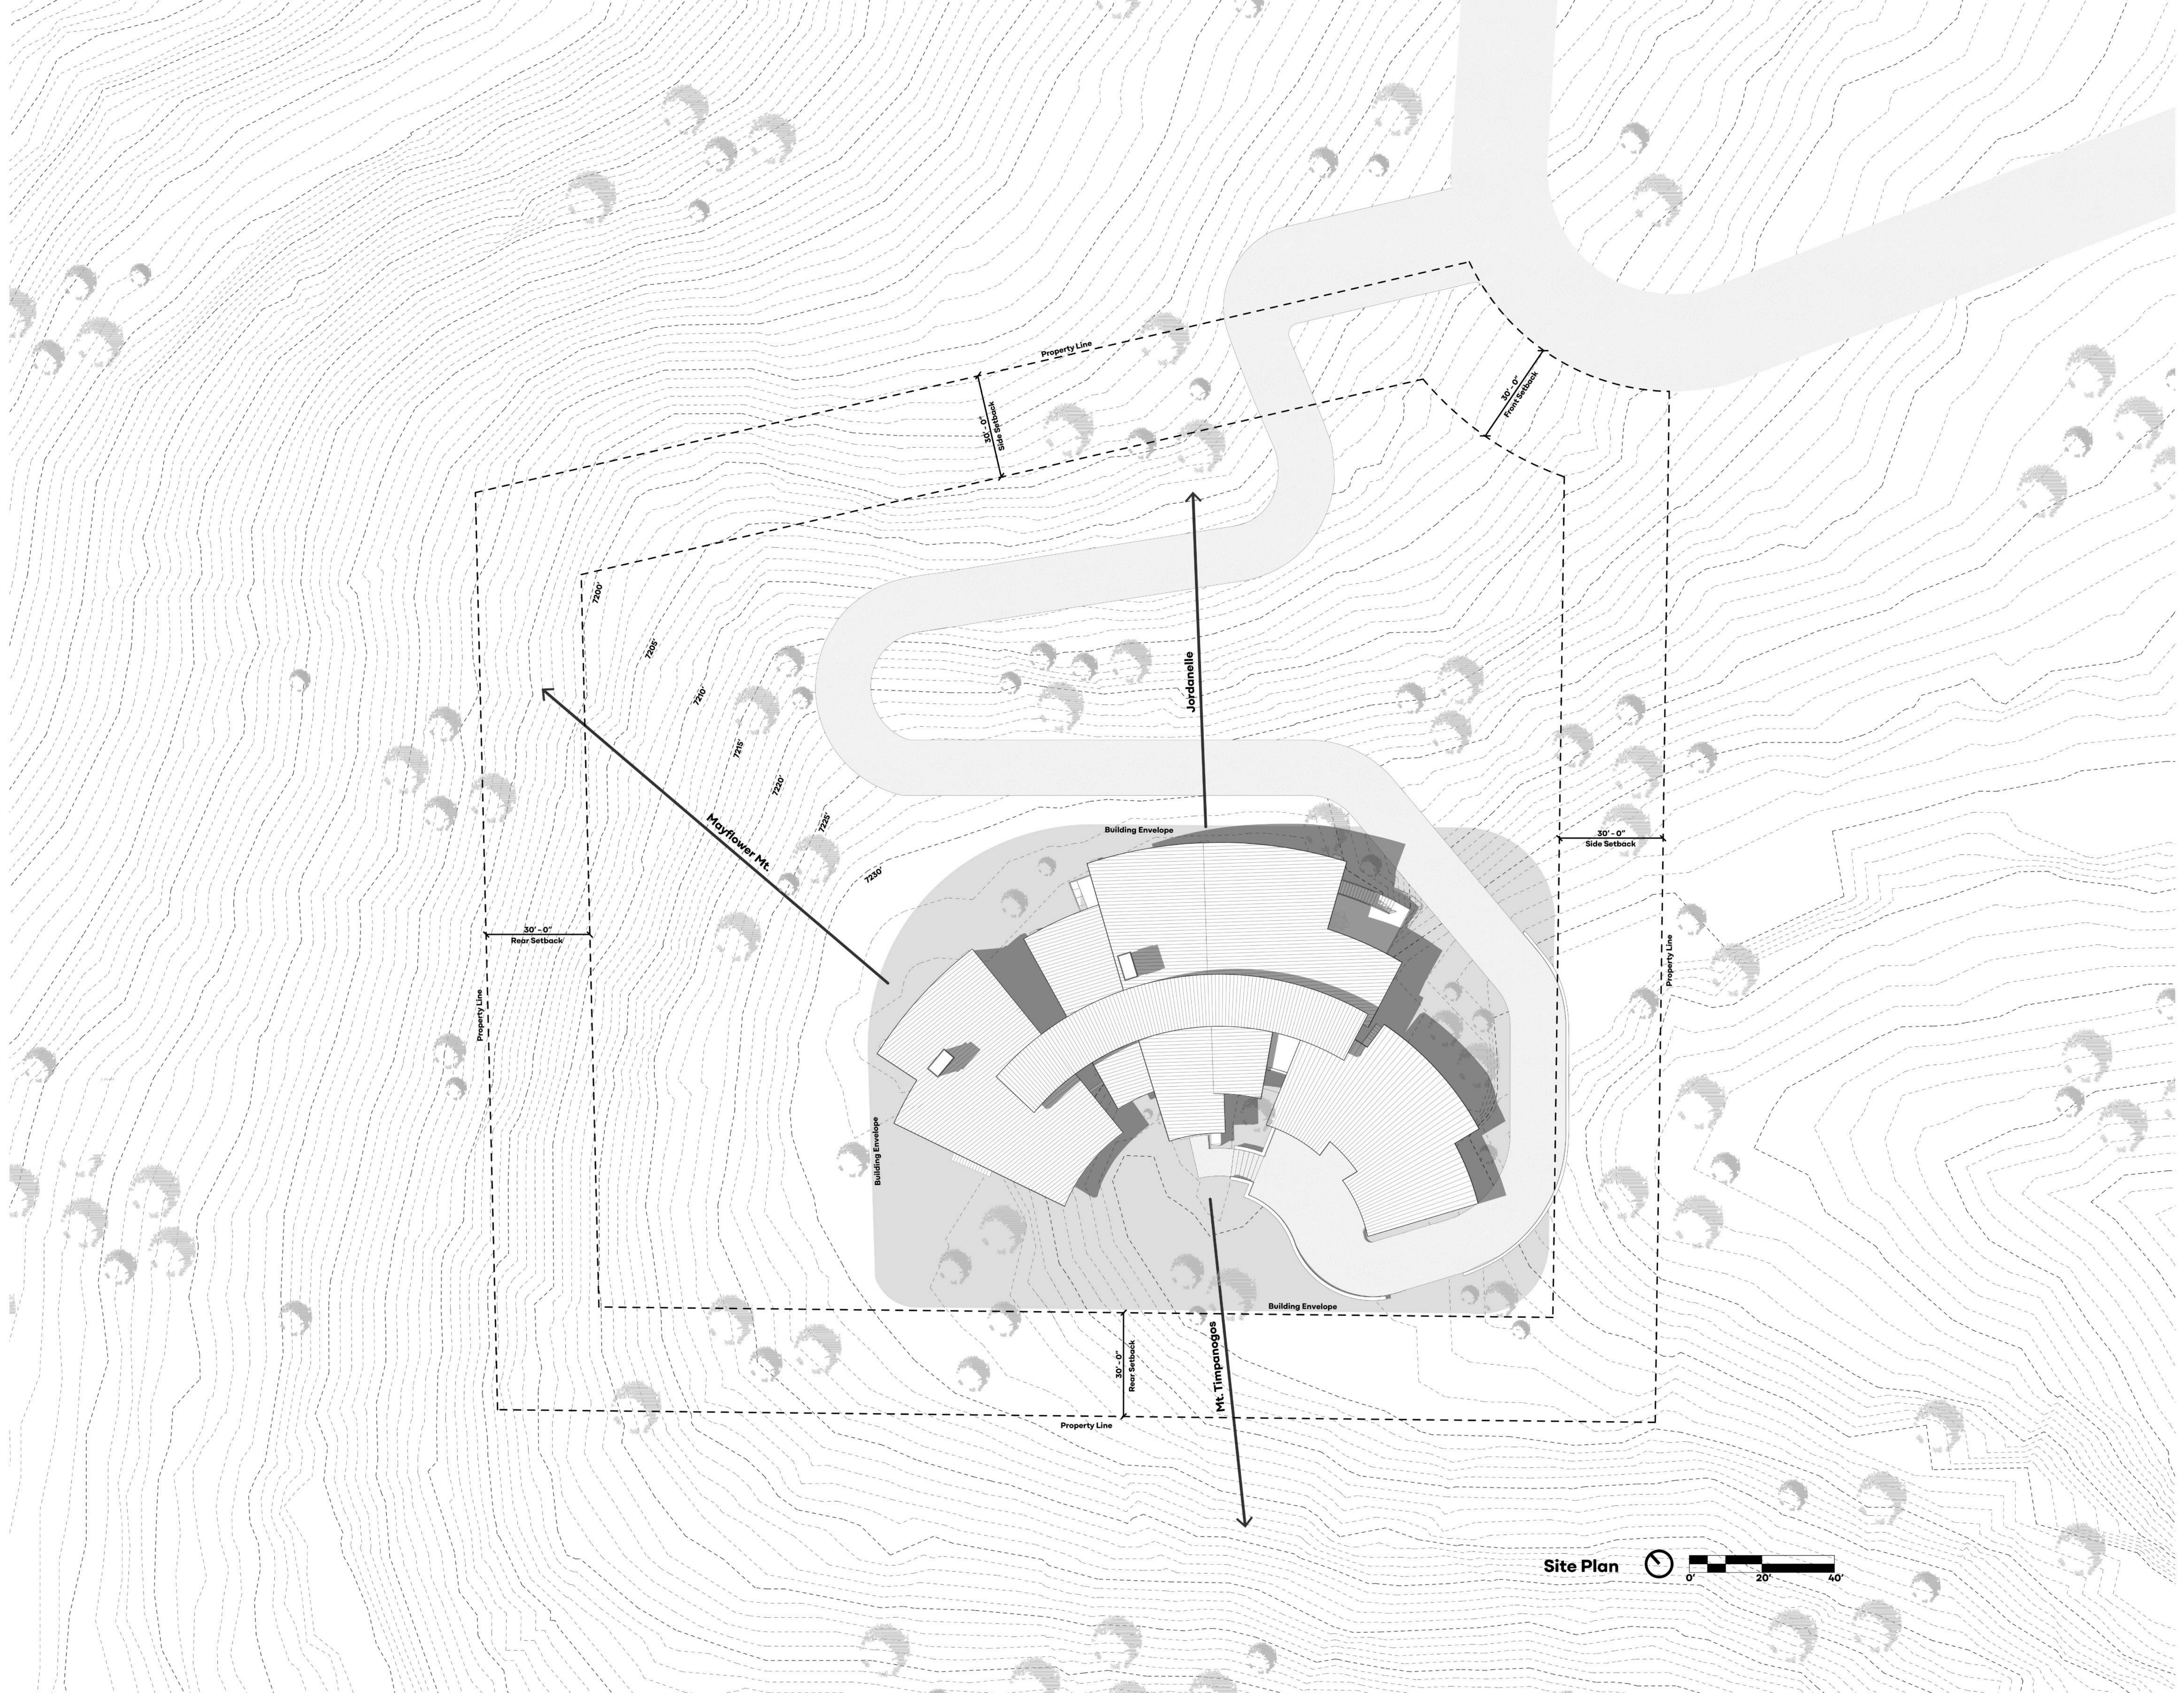

Designing a home begins with a deep understanding of how our clients live—their needs, desires, and the ways they will inhabit each space. It also requires understanding how the land embraces the home and how nature will shape the experience of living there. Through thoughtful collaboration, we sculpt and refine each design until it achieves a timeless balance of function, beauty, and value.

Our Team

Our team is a diverse group of architects and designers who place collaboration at the heart of every project we undertake. Leading our team is Jory Walker, a seasoned residential and commercial architect, as well as a classically trained sculptor and artist. His unique combination of residential and commercial expertise brings invaluable insight to even the most complex homes, while his artistic foundation inspires architecture that is timeless, expressive, and deeply livable. Every design is carefully balanced to achieve beauty, function, and financial responsibility. Joining Jory is his partner in life and business, Sandy Sasser Walker, who leads the firm's interior design, ensuring every home is thoughtfully integrated inside and out.
